

Abs

Description

Absolute-value function. The absolute value of a number is the number without its sign. i.e. removes the sign if number is negative.

Category

Mathematical

Implemented

Usage Syntax

`Abs (number)`

Return Information

Return Type	Return Description
number	The absolute value of a number.

Arguments

Name	Type	Required	Position	Default	Description
number	number	Yes	1	N/A	A number

Example Usage

Abs Example

The absolute value of the following numbers: 1,3,-4,-3.2,6 is `#Abs(1) #, #Abs(3) #, #Abs(-4) #, #Abs(-3.2) #, #Abs(6) #`

The absolute value of a number is the number without its sign.

Contents

- Abs
- Description
- Category
- Implemented
- Usage Syntax
- Return Information
- Arguments
- Example Usage

 Categories:

- FUNCTION